

My Time at Stellar

Rory McIntyre

I am currently completing a year long Business Analysis placement at Stellar Omada, through Edinburgh Napier University where I am studying Business Information Technology. I have completed two years of study and I'm currently undertaking my third year.

I've been exposed to a wide range of skills during my first two years of studying that have benefited me while on placement at Stellar. Being an effective member of a team was something I'd learned while doing group work at university and it has been a crucial skill that I've used frequently while working on a client project.

While undertaking work at Stellar I have often relied on my problem solving and analytical skills, especially when I have been faced with difficult situations. Being able to use them to help me resolve issues has been hugely beneficial.

Alongside using generic skills, I have also utilised skills from specific modules such as the web design module. I've used the journey mapping that was covered in this module to complete user journeys while working on a client site.

My time at Stellar has not only been positive for my professional growth, it has also been hugely rewarding and enjoyable from a personal point of view. Through all the partnerships that Stellar is part of, I have been able to be involved and have experienced so many opportunities. This includes volunteering at the Hearts Innovation Centre and being able to give back through various charity events, as well as attending social events like the speedway and football matches at Tynecastle.

In the future I look forward to utilising all the knowledge and the skills that I've developed from my time at Stellar in my final year of studying at university. I also look forward to the beginning of my professional career knowing I am already armed with an array of skills and experience from my time at Stellar.

From the warm welcome I received on my first day to the support I get every day at Stellar, I have been given the confidence and guidance needed to succeed and thrive while on my placement.
